A different face, but the same commitment

Joe Grace

This will be my last Editor's Choice with the Lake County Journals, but I am being replaced by a person who should be familiar to you and who is devoted to keeping the Journals community focused.

The new managing editor of the Journals will be senior reporter Kathy Gresey.

Kathy's passion and enthusiasm for community journalism will serve her well in her new role.

She graduated from Columbia College in Chicago with a degree in journalism and started her career as the Grayslake reporter for the Lake County Journals..

After two years covering everything from Summer Days to the Lake County Fair, Kathy moved on to the Weekly Journals where she honed her pagination and editing skills before joining the staff of the Northwest Herald as a reporter.

This spring, Kathy returned to the Lake County Journals to become the senior reporter. In this leadership role, she gained the knowledge and experience that will help lead to a seamless transition.

"I want to continue bringing local news to the residents of Lake County," Kathy says. "I've always enjoyed telling a good story, and I will keep doing that in the newspapers that serve our coverage area."

We're also welcoming Colin Selbo to the team as a reporter.

Colin grew up in Mundelein and knows the area well.

He graduated from Valparaiso University in May 2008.

Mr. Fix-it comes to local Ace

WGN's Lou Manfredini answers home-repair questions

By RYAN BONG
grayslake@weeklyjournals.com

GRAYSLAKE – Ace Hardware in Grayslake opened its doors a little early on Aug. 30. The store opened at 6 a.m. with Mr. Fix-it Lou Manfredini and a radio crew from WGN.

The morning was a huge success, drawing large crowds in the early morning hours of the holiday weekend.

Along with a live broadcast – where customers could ask Manfredini home-repair questions live on the air or e-mail their questions to be answered live on the air – Ace also provided free breakfast items for its customers.

"It's nice to do something for our regular customers," said store manager Paula Arthon.

It was obvious that both customers and employees of Ace were excited to have Manfredini in the store to answer people's questions.

Manfredini has been working with Ace as a spokesperson the last five years. During that time, he has helped promote the company and answer home-repair questions through radio broadcasts, store appearances, and do-it-yourself videos.

Ryan Bong – grayslake@weeklyjournals.com
Mr. Fix-it Lou Manfredini hosted his radio show from the Ace Hardware in Grayslake on Aug. 30.

The radio personality got his start in home repair at age 13, working in a hardware store. After that he had an array of jobs, gaining knowledge of home repair through working various trades including carpentry, welding, and eventually as a home-building contractor.

He has been partnered with Ace hardware for the last five years and has been the owner of his own Ace Hardware in Chicago for the last three years.

The Grayslake Ace Hardware has been in business for six years. The store is located at 945 E. Belvidere Road.

Building the China brand important to the country

In 1871, the Great Chicago Fire killed hundreds of people and destroyed approximately four square miles of the Windy City. Twenty-two years later, on May 1, 1893, like a phoenix rising from the ashes, a newly rebuilt city hosted the Chicago World's Fair in testament to a people's resilience and ingenuity.

Today many of Chicago's most notable landmarks stand in silent show of that fair over 100 years ago. Jackson Park, the ferris wheel, and – oh yeah – that little thing called public electricity all made their debut as a direct result of the World's Fair. We also can thank the fair, in large part, for the Field Museum.

Not only did the fair bring new buildings to Chicago but famous peoples such as Thomas Edison, J.P. Morgan, and Andrew Carnegie. Chicago had properly marketed herself and garnered a bid that in the end would leave a lasting legacy for years to come, transforming Chicago into the Midwest dynamo we know and love today.

In August 2008 the world watched as Beijing rose from a more than 350-year torpor, which started in 1644 with the occupation of China by the foreign Manchu clan.

Not surprisingly, this came as a great blow to the proud Han majority of China and was to be followed years later by greater embarrassments in the forms of the United Kingdom, the United States, France, Germany, Japan, and Russia dividing China for themselves.

It was only in the last century that the Chinese people took control of their country again, beginning a long crawl toward much anticipated redemption – a long crawl to the summit culminating on Aug. 8, 2008.

At long last, last month China was finally ready for her coming-out show, proving to the world she was again a major player in world affairs.

With a cast of billions and a national face-lift, the mighty Middle Kingdom emerged capable and surprisingly modernized. The Olympics' show the country put on was undeniably awesome, the scale fantastical. The Games themselves were equally impressive. All in all, the grand event went off with out a hitch much to the chagrin of many pessimistic journalists near and far.

What does all this mean for China?

Like the Chicago World's Fair, I wager, the 2008 Olympics will have an extremely positive and lasting effect on China's long-term future. They have created a legacy for themselves, and for all intents and purposes there is now a "China" brand.

Of course, in the present China has already reaped heavily from foreign tourism – their hotels and restaurants, historical sights and transportation industry must be rolling in the dough right about now. But what about the future?

I predict that in the future, by word-of-mouth and definitely through such humble newspapers as the one you read now, the word will get out that China is a wonderful place to visit and thus China's tourism industry will continue to blossom. Then one must factor in all the foreign business men and women who came to China and saw potential. It's worth mentioning that Tsing-Tao Beer and the NBA have announced that they are "post-Olympic partners."

Obviously, this all bodes very well for China.

Even though the Chinese poured an estimated 300 billion RMB (44 billion USD) into the Olympics, sooner or later the people will get their cash back in full.

Have a look at the Great Wall of China, something built 2,000 years ago at the cost of hundreds of thousands of people and dollars – arguably still China's greatest draw. Ask Greece about the Olympics, for they too are raking in 1,000-year-old royalties.

The China brand has been created. Now we'll just have to wait and see how they plan to market themselves.

Local agencies receive grant money

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

WADSWORTH – While $1 million can buy a luxury home in a beautiful neighborhood, thousands of tons of salt to clear icy roadways and the services of a professional athlete for a season or two, in Lake County, a little more than $1 million from The Lake County Community Foundation – an affiliate of The Chicago Community Trust – has provided grants to 55 nonprofit agencies working to improve the quality of life for county residents.

The foundation announced this milestone, along with its 2008 grants totaling $274,000, last week at a reception at Tempel Farms in Wadsworth.

The organization also announced its 2008 Basic Human Needs Award recipients, which were Community Resources for Education and Wellness and Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine.

"For so many years, we've had hundreds of people on waiting lists for our English as Second Language, GED, citizenship, computer and job readiness classes," said Carolina Duque, executive director of Mano a Mano Family Resource Center in Round Lake Park.

"Receiving a grant from The Lake County Community Foundation is making a huge impact, because we can expand our class offerings, including new Saturday classes.

"This grant gives us the tools to hire more teachers and support staff – resources we need to help immigrant and under-served individuals and families become full participants in American life."

Creation scientist to discuss findings at church

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

GAGES LAKE – Creation scientist Laurence Tisdall will be speaking at 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 14, at the Gages Lake Bible Church, 18788 W. Gages Lake Road, Gages Lake.

Tisdall will be presenting a talk entitled, "The Book of Genesis and the Chinese Peoples."

Tisdall will discuss his findings among the Chinese history and how it relates to the ongoing debate over the origin of the earth.

That the Chinese peoples had a clear understanding of the book of Genesis is evident in their 4,000-year-old pictograms. Their culture and traditions demonstrate their in-depth knowledge of the God of Genesis, "Shang-Di," according to a release.

This presentation will challenge those in attendance with the discovery of the historical extra-biblical evidence for Adam and Eve, Noah and the Great Flood as well as some mysterious Chinese prophecies concerning the coming of "The Prince."

Gages Lake Bible Church is a nondenominational church that serves Grayslake, Gurnee, Round Lake, Hainesville and the surrounding communities.

Gurnee area gets grants for safety

Police, parks receive new funds

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

GURNEE – More than $100,000 in state grants have been released in the Gurnee area for public safety and handicapped accessibility projects, state officials have announced.

The Gurnee Police Department received a $15,000 grant for the purchase of a Gator/Polaris all-terrain vehicle, and an additional $5,000 grant for costs associated with retrofitting current police radio equipment.

"We are very grateful for State Rep. Sandy Cole's assistance in obtaining the state funding for these important additions to our emergency operations," said Gurnee Police Chief Robert Jones in a release.

"The ATV will allow our officers to respond to emergencies along the network of bicycle paths within the village, including the Des Plaines River Trail. This vehicle will provide us with the means to transport personnel and equipment to remote locations or flooded areas not accessible by traditional emergency vehicles."

In addition, the Grandwood Park Park District received an $85,000 state grant that will assist the park district with essential handicapped accessibility improvements to its community center located at 36630 Hutchins Road in unincorporated Gurnee.

"The Grandwood Park Park District is very pleased to receive state funding for the installation of ADA-approved bathrooms at our Community Center," said John Badtke, president of the park district.

"When it was built over 30 years ago, the center had a total annual operating budget of under $50,000 that had to pay for everything from grass cutting to insurance. Our residents did most of the work on the center themselves, and for many years we have tried to update it to be ADA approved, but our budget would not allow it."

The total amount of state grants obtained was $105,000.

In brief

- The Gurnee Police Department received a $15,000 grant for the purchase of a Gator/Polaris all-terrain vehicle, and an additional $5,000 grant for costs associated with retrofitting current police radio equipment.
- The Grandwood Park Park District received an $85,000 state grant that will assist the park district with essential handicapped accessibility improvements to its community center

Program aids first-time home buyers

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

GRAYSLAKE – A group of real-estate professionals are joining together to dish out the straight scoop for those who are thinking about embarking on one of the biggest firsts of their lives.

Potential home-buyers can learn the ins and outs of making such a momentous purchase by meeting these professionals at a free seminar at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday Sept. 16, and 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 20, at the University Center of Lake County 1200 University Center Drive, Grayslake.

The group includes real-estate consultants, a mortgage officer, a real-estate attorney, home inspector and insurance broker.

The seminar's purpose is to show first-time home buyers how to find and purchase a home with confidence, said Glenn Rickel, buyer representative with Century 21 Roberts & Andrews, in a release.

"Our team has countless combined years of experience and success," he said. "Together, we can show prospective buyers a seamless process that ensures a smooth and memorable experience."

The two-hour seminar will provide information on how to qualify for a mortgage, tips on finding a home and what to expect during the home-buying process.

"With the new FHA loans and low down-payment options available to first-time home buyers, the monthly payments on a $150,000 home would be in the same range as the rental cost of many local apartments and town homes in Lake County, said Lorilee Holliday, a mortgage officer with Century 21 Mortgage. "It's even better with the new $7,500 first-time homebuyer tax credit and other benefits."

Other seminar participants will include Todd Bergling, attorney; and Ed Piper, of Piper Home Inspections.

Anyone interested in reserving a spot or wanting to reserve a seat can call 847-356-3400 or e-mail HomeBuyer@RobertsAndAndrews.com.

Small plane crashes in yard in Fox Lake

Injuries minor as aircraft strikes trees; nearby resident aids three passengers

By JIM BUTTS
jbutts@nwherald.com

FOX LAKE – A small, single-engine airplane crashed into a residential yard shortly after taking off from a privately owned airport at about 5 p.m. Aug. 31.

To the surprise of rescue workers, all three passengers in the plane appeared to suffer only minor injuries in the crash, said Larry Van Hoorelbeke, deputy chief of the Fox Lake Fire Department.

All three passengers might have been saved from more serious harm because of the rescue efforts of neighbors, who helped remove the passengers from the burning plane, a witness said.

Fox Lake firefighters responded to a report of a plane crash about 5 p.m. Aug. 31 and arrived at 5:13 p.m. to 8742 Country Shire Lane in Fox Lake, Van Hoorelbeke said.

Samuel Hutchinson, 65, was piloting the Cessna 1968 model single engine plane that went down. His 38-year-old son, Brian, and 19-month-old grandchild were on board, said Lt. Jeff Norris of the Fox Lake Police Department.

The child and Hutchinson's son were treated for injuries at the scene, while Hutchinson was taken to Centegra Hospital – McHenry, as a precaution, Van Hoorelbeke said.

The Cessna 1968 model single engine plane is registered to Hutchinson of Fennimore, Wis., according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

John Meredith of Spring Grove witnessed the crash from his front yard.

While talking with a friend in front of his home, Meredith said he watched the single-engine plane take off from nearby Richardson Field, a privately owned airport in Spring Grove.

The plane lifted off the ground and turned left over some trees before it appeared to experience engine trouble, Meredith said.

"I just heard it start stalling out and then heard it hitting trees," he said.

Meredith drove to the crash scene and saw a man who lived in the home helping Hutchinson from the plane.

The resident had already helped the child and Hutchinson's son from the plane, Meredith said.

Meanwhile the plane's engine was on fire, Meredith said.

The man had brought out a fire extinguisher and hose to try to douse the flames, he said.

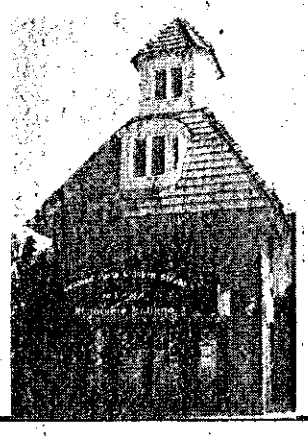

"I would say he saved their lives," Meredith said.

Another neighbor who works as a paramedic also started treating the passengers before rescue workers arrives, Meredith said.

The plane crashed about a 100 feet from the house and no property was damaged in the crash, according to fire officials.

Fox Lake police and Spring Grove Fire Department ambulance also responded to the scene of the crash.

Health agency offers tips to prepare for emergency

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

In conjunction with National Preparedness Month in September, the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center encourages all residents to play an active roll in preparing for an emergency.

"There are three simple things every household can do to ensure they are prepared for an emergency: know where to go, build your emergency kit, and create an emergency communications plan," said Irene Pierce, health department's executive director, in a release.

The department has worked with the Lake County Clerk's office, townships and municipalities, as well as police and fire departments to develop a plan that uses polling places as points of distribution should the need for mass medication arise during a public-health emergency.

By using polling sites, the population can access a large number of locations close to home, alleviating traffic congestion and reducing the need to travel. Even if a person is not a registered voter or does not participate in the election process, he or she will visit a designated polling site to pick up medicine in a public-health emergency. To locate sites, call 847-377-8000 or visit the health department Web site at www.co.lake.il.us/health.

To create an emergency kit, put the following items in a backpack or duffle bag and keep it in a handy place: flashlights, battery-powered radio, batteries (leave in package), medications (three-day supply), first-aid kit, plastic storage bags, duct tape, plastic sheeting, matches (waterproof), lightweight high-energy food (nonperishable candy bars, granola bars, etc.), toilet paper, paper towels, towelettes, liquid or bar soap, pliers and wrench, hat and gloves, notebook and pen, garbage bags, cash or travelers checks, map of the area, toothbrush and toothpaste, feminine supplies, baby supplies (diapers, formula, wipes), whistle, needle and thread, compass, aluminum foil, paper plates and cups, extra pair of shoes and socks, change of underwear, utility knife, glasses and/or contact lenses, bottle of water, roll of twine, camera, pet supplies, list of physicians and bottled water.

An emergency communications plan should include a contact whom family members can call to find other family members. The selected contact should live far enough away that he or she would be unlikely to be affected by the same event. Be sure the person knows he or she is the contact. Make sure every household member has the contact's phone number and e-mail address. The plan should also include locations where family members can meet in the event of an emergency.

Having a pre-determined meeting place right outside a house and another outside the neighborhood will save time and minimize confusion should one's home be affected or the area evacuated. Special needs (elderly, mobility, sight- or hearing-impaired) neighbors should be checked on before departure. Be sure to include pets in an emergency plan.

Agency brings farm to schools

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

The Lake County Farm Bureau is offering free Agriculture in the Classroom presentations this upcoming school year.

The presentations are available to all classes in Lake County that teach students between the ages of pre-kindergarten and eighth grade. The presentations highlight the importance of agriculture for students who may not have a chance to experience any farming near their homes or schools because of the development of farmland in the county.

Ag in the Classroom provides free learning experiences that are aligned with Illinois Learning Standards and have presentations that are available on a wide variety of topics that can be modified to fit into almost any pre-existing curricula.

In addition to presentations, the Lake County Farm Bureau also offers free learning materials that meet Illinois Learning Standards. Some of the learning materials that are available include books, videos and activity kits.

The Lake County Farm Bureau also offers 10 grants in the amount of $250 to teachers who would like to incorporate agriculture into their classroom. Applications for this year's grants are now available. The deadline for completed grant applications is Nov. 14.

To schedule a presentation for a class, request resources or grant application, or for information about the Ag in the Classroom program offered by the Lake County Farm Bureau, contact Information Director Andy Blaul at 847-223-6506 or ablaul@ameritech.net.

Spring Grove restoring former fish hatchery site

By DIANA SROKA
dsroka@nwherald.com

SPRING GROVE – Almost a year ago, the village bought a 51-acre, former fish hatchery with the hope of creating green space for the community.

The first set of renovations to what will be known as Hatchery Park will be unveiled this week.

"My neighbor said, 'My gosh, this is like the Central Park of Spring Grove,' " said Ron Erdmann, chairman of the committee overseeing the project.

Residents can visit the property from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 6, for Taste of Spring Grove.

There will be a wine tasting, crafts and games for kids, and a band. Proceeds will benefit the restoration of the hatchery.

The hatchery was built in 1914, and was the first in the state. At one time, it supplied enough fish to stock all state waterways north of Springfield, and its natural springs produced more than 300 gallons of water a minute.

If you go ...

What: Taste of Spring Grove.
Where: Spring Grove Fish Hatchery, 2314 Hatchery Road, Spring Grove
When: 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 6

For info, call 815-675-2121

Several years ago, the Illinois Department of Natural Resources closed the facility. Last year, Spring Grove bought the property.

"It's all going to be restored to the 1930s appearance as much as we can," said Bonnie DeGroot, village events coordinator.

The two-story building will serve as an education center and museum, with tours and a video presentation of the hatchery process.

"We want folks to come in and see how game fish are produced," Erdmann said.

A parking area has been created, so that people can visit the park for other recreational purposes.

Erdmann said the park would be ideal for walking, jogging, cross-country skiing, fishing and other outdoors activities.

For some, re-opening the hatchery will bring back memories of yesteryear.

"I remember as a kid in Girl Scouts going up there to see the fish hatchery," said Nancy Fike, administrator of the McHenry County Historical Society museum.

Fike said the restoration would have a cultural affect on the community.

"Having a fish hatchery they can see was an original helps with the continuity of our lives," she said. "Connections to our past bring stability."

Others suspect that the facility will spur environmental awareness.

"If it attracts people, you can use it as a backdrop for educating people about the importance of clean water and clean ecosystems," said John Epifanio, a scientist with the Illinois Natural History Survey. "Fish do best in healthy ecosystems. Sometimes they need a little bit of help."

Helping children see

To the Editor:

There's a new exam required this school year that Illinois students can't afford to miss. A new Illinois law requires comprehensive eye exams for children entering school for the first time.

After 30 years of practice, I've seen children who have struggled academically, not knowing until after an eye exam, that they were suffering from a vision problem, as opposed to a learning problem. I've also seen children who put on a pair of glasses and could see clearly for the first time, not knowing that they were seeing blurry before, because blurry was all they knew.

Regular vision screenings often don't detect these and other vision problems, and thus, can not replace comprehensive eye examinations by optometrists or opthalmologists.

Together with the Illinois Optometric Association, I urge parents to ensure their children receive comprehensive eye exams, not only because it's the law, but also because it is a simple preventative measure that will help ensure a healthy and successful school career for their children.

Approximately 70 percent of children nationally are insured for comprehensive eye exams through private insurance, Medicaid, S-CHIP or other state or federal programs. Please visit www.aoadrlocator.com to find an optometrist near you.

As an optometrist and as a parent, I urge all Illinois parents to have their children's eyes examined prior to the beginning of a new school year, so that children start the school year with the tools they need to learn.

Obama, a product of Democratic machine

To the Editor:

In the aftermath of the Democratic Convention in Denver, Chicago's favorite son and presidential candidate, Barack Obama, will be touted as a moderate Democrat who understands the desires and needs of all Americans, disregarding the fact that Obama, the politician, was groomed by influential members of the Democratic political machine.

Emil Jones considers himself the political mentor of Obama. And not to be forgotten are Obama's Chicagoland friendships. Men like William Ayers and the Rev. Wright are proponents of Obama's far left-leaning political views and values.

What are the far reaching implications of an Obama presidency given his Chicago connections? Consider politics the "Chicago-way." Recently Chicago was named the number one nanny-state in the country by Reason magazine; that is the metropolis with the most government laws and regulations. It also ranked Chicago dead last in terms of allowing personal choices.

Chicago is the city with out-of-control gang violence and a high rate of murders; the city with one of the highest tax rates in the country; the city that cannot upgrade the schools because the NEA controls them; the city with great architecture, museums and restaurants for tourists to enjoy, but rotten at its inner core; the city that ranks high in political corruption resulting in an endless line of politicians and/or their cronies having been sent to federal prison.

All of the above happened under the Democratic machine politics of Mayor Richard M. Daley, Obama's political champion, who Tribune commentator John Kass called on Thursday, Aug. 21, "Chicago's sovereign lord." Mayor Daley acts as a benevolent dictator by using patronage to preserve power and to maintain the "nanny" state that is today's Chicago.

Is Daley's control of Chicago no longer enough power for the Daley machine? Americans beware of Obama's promise of change by taking a good look at the leftist core of Chicago, a failed and corrupt city. It is not unthinkable that the corrupt Daley machine would go national on the coattails of an Obama victory to Chicagoize the U.S.A.

Thank you to community

To the Editor:

St. Andrew Episcopal Church, 31 Park Ave., Grayslake, recently held its fourth annual shoe event, part of the church's community outreach ministry called Elijah's Mantle. During this event, free brand-new shoes were given away to needy school-age children in Lake County.

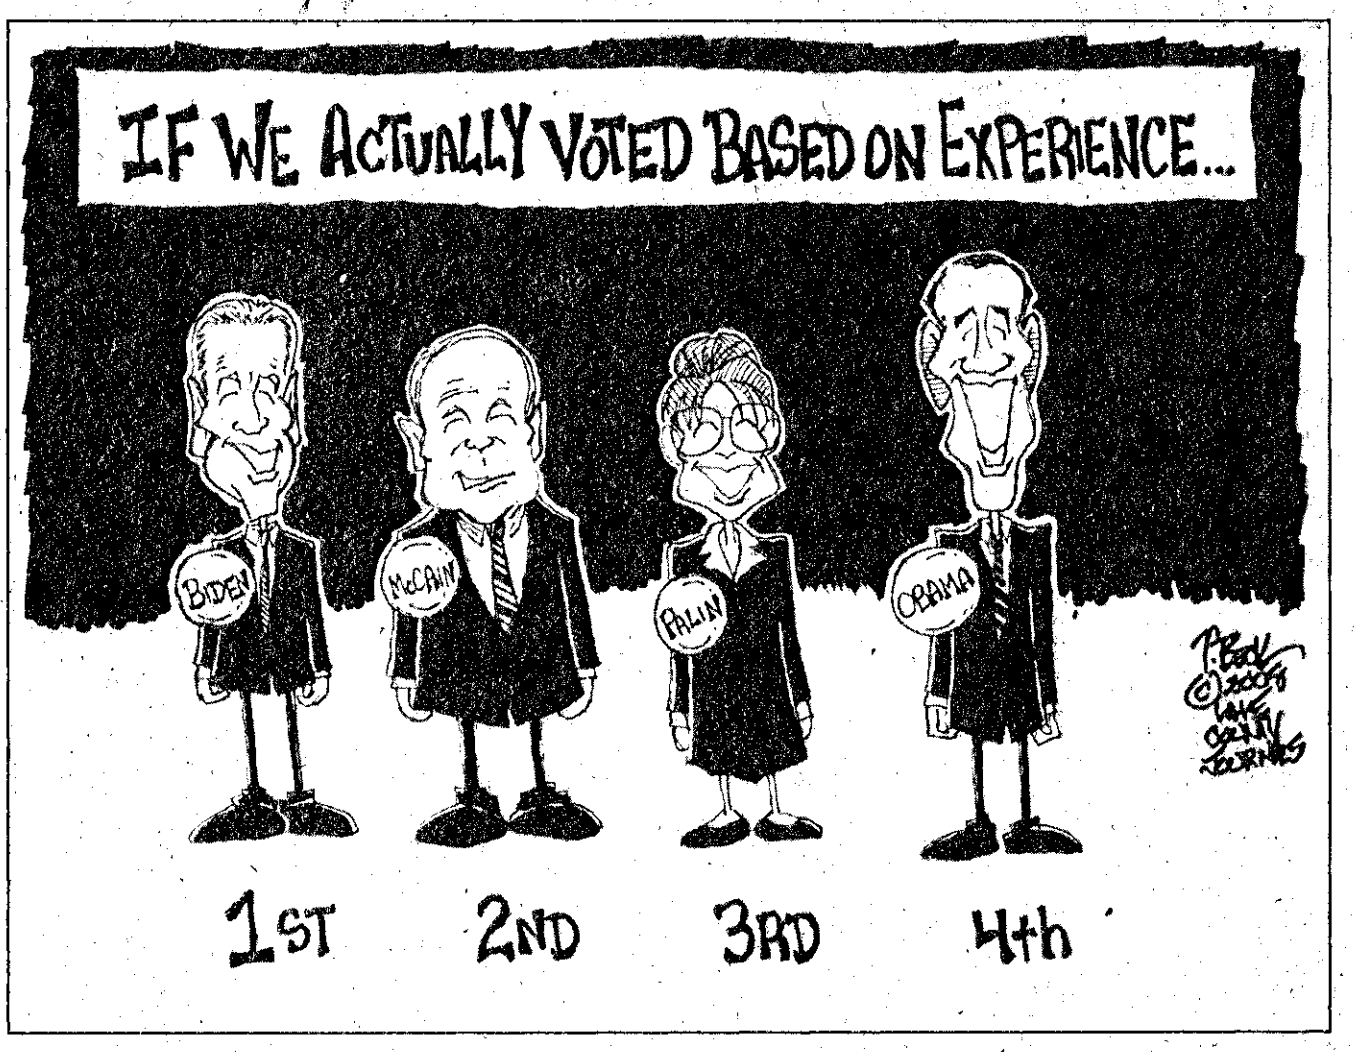

Thanks to the outstanding generosity and donations from church members and from the local communities, the church was able to fit 127 children from 49 families with new shoes to begin their upcoming school year. We truly appreciate the donations from the community, and thank you for your willingness to help with this worthwhile cause.

Unfair property tax must be addressed

John S. Matejevich

Unfairness of property tax system must be addressed

For some time now, Lake County Board member Larry Leafblad, D-Grayslake, has been fighting the unfairness of real-estate assessments that, in effect, are increasing the taxes that we pay.

This came to mind when I saw a copy of the brochure that the Lake County government mailed to citizens showing that the property-tax rate imposed by the county is low compared to other units of government.

What taxpayers are rightfully concerned about is the bottom line, and that is what is coming out of their pockets to pay their property-tax bills.

It has become shockingly high for everyone, and especially for taxpayers who are living on a fixed income.

The evil in the property-tax system is its basis on the market value of real estate, which has skyrocketed over the years. That's where property-tax assessments come in. As property values go up, assessments increase, and as assessments increase, taxes increase. It's a vicious cycle.

I don't have to inform the county board that in those years when the property tax rates remained low, it was receiving humongous increases in tax revenues from taxpayers because property assessments were increasing "off the roof."

In the main, local governments never reduced their tax rates when they received monumental revenues because of escalating property assessments.

The whole property-tax system runs counter to our American belief.

We are told that we should experience the American dream to own property and build our dream house, and to improve it, so that neighborhoods are beautified, and then our quality of life allows us to live happily ever after.

So, what happens?

When taxpayers put improvements onto their dream houses, they are punished. The more that they upgrade their property, the more they are forced to pay in taxes. Their dream houses becomes a nightmare.

The whole tax assessment of property system is backward.

Rather than improving the property, if a property owner allows it to become run-down and blighted, he is rewarded by paying lower taxes because the property is assessed lower.

That means that the tax system, by its policies, can encourage the spread of blighted neighborhoods.

Slum landlords, who usually don't live in the neighborhood, are rewarded, too.

They continue to receive higher rents from their tenants without putting improvements in the property.

Therefore, the valuations are low, and taxes are comparatively low.

If we followed a fairer system of taxation, we would continue to encourage homeowners to improve their properties without punishing them.

As long as those improvements benefit their quality of life, it should not be a source of increased taxation through higher assessments.

We should give incentives for people to improve their properties by giving them tax breaks rather than tax penalties.

I get tired of public officials who say that people hate the property tax because it's the easiest to see.

They just don't get it. Taxpayers hate the tax because it's the hardest to pay, because it's so high.

When people move out of their homes, not because they want to, but because they can't afford to keep up with the taxes, something is wrong.

It's bad enough that foreclosures and boarded-up homes have been caused by unscrupulous sub-prime loan scandals.

It's doubly bad that people who have struggled a lifetime to build their dream houses are squeezed out in the twilight of their lives because they no longer can afford to pay the obscenely high taxes. That is sad!

The unfairness of the property tax system must be addressed.

An important hospital

To the Editor:

I can remember my mom taking me to St. Therese (now Vista Medical Center West) for the various bumps and bruises I got growing up. And now I take my daughters to Vista East when fevers get too high or other injuries occur.

I understand that Vista Health System has set out to improve the overall quality of care in Waukegan and it has. We have more options for good care than ever before! I stand behind this hospital. This is our community hospital – the only hospital in Waukegan. And I know Vista is making improvements every single day, whether we see it or not.

Vista has a new administration now, and every one associated with the hospital has a focus on care. Just look at the services we can access today at Vista: open heart surgery and major joint replacement at Vista East, and the return of emergency medical services at Vista West.

As a life-long resident of Waukegan, I know the future of our town is strong. The future of our partner Vista also is strong. And I know we will continue to see improvements in technology, services and overall health care at both Vista health care facilities.

I am committed to improving the quality of life in Waukegan, making it a safer and more prosperous place to live and raise a family. That includes supporting my local health care provider – Vista Health System – in its efforts to increase access to quality medical services for the more than 90,000 residents of this city, and our neighboring communities as well.

Getting to know relatives

Holiday weekends are usually a popular time for family get-togethers.

This past weekend was no exception for my family. Sometimes these reunions bring to mind the phrase, "You can pick your friends, but you can't pick your relatives."

Really, though, I think this is a good thing.

Can you imagine how dull life would be without a few colorful relatives to talk about?

Incidentally, family gatherings also are a great opportunity for kids to practice their manners.

Of course, my children do a stellar job of their practicing manners at home.

Why, just this morning my older son said, "Excuse me, Butthead," to his brother while passing in the hallway. (I tell you, sometimes it just warms my heart to see the affection between them.)

If you think about it, family gatherings provide the perfect opportunity to teach our children some valuable lessons.

For example, the importance of being tolerant.

Extended families show our kids how different people can be.

Everyone in our family, and the world, for that matter, is not the same.

And that's OK; even if we sometimes disagree, we love each other anyway.

Being curious about those differences is important, too. We can set an example to our children that learning is a lifelong journey.

Imagine all the new things we can learn just by hearing about our relatives' different hobbies and interests.

(And just out of curiosity, how many cats does Aunt Florence have, anyway?)

Occasionally there are things we don't want our kids to learn, such as the colorful language coming from Uncle Bob or the real reason Uncle Joe wears an eye patch.

But then again, I guess there is something to be said for cautionary tales, too.

In the best-case scenario, families are preparation for adult life.

Skills such as negotiation and persuasion (how do I get that last brownie away from my much larger cousin?) and the benefits of keeping your mouth shut. (If I let Great Aunt plaster a couple of kisses on my forehead, it will be worth a dollar!)

Along with these life lessons, if you are lucky like me, your family gatherings also include some really great food.

Valuable lessons aside, not having to cook dinner is practically priceless!

Falling into movies

Autumn releases to feature to comedic performances, drama

By JEFFREY WESTHOFF
jeffreywesthoff@jeffwest.com

This fall's movie release calendar went into seismic shock after Harry Potter took a powder.

Once Warner Bros. announced it was postponing the release of "Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince" until next summer, every movie studio scrambled to fill the vacuum.

One family film, Disney's computer-animated "Bolt," immediately jumped into Harry's vacated Nov. 21 opening date. So did a movie, "Twilight," that many think has "Potter" box-office potential because it also is based on a series of best-selling novels (never mind that Stephenie Myers' vampire books are aimed at older readers).

Meanwhile, James Bond's "Quantum of Solace" got pushed back 007 days to Nov. 14, no longer worried that Harry Potter would steal Bond's box-office thunder the following weekend.

With this game of musical chairs apparently over, we can look at the fall release schedule and again wonder why there's usually one Friday in October when so many movies open that none has a chance to break out in the all-important first weekend.

This year the date is Oct. 3, when seven movies (including Disney's heavily hyped "Beverly Hills Chihuahua") open.

A handful of Oscar hopefuls are sprinkled among the fall releases, including "The Secret Life of Bees" (Oct. 17), "Changeling" (Oct. 31) and "The Soloist" (Nov. 21). But this year's true Oscar heavyweights are being held in reserve until December.

Here are the major films scheduled to hit theaters between now and Thanksgiving. Release dates are subject to change, this fall more than ever.

Movies out Sept. 5

"Bangkok Dangerous": Nicholas Cage plays a hitman who has second thoughts about his career after taking on a big job (four targets) in Bangkok. This isn't being screened for critics, which generally isn't a sign of quality.

Movies out Sept. 12

"Burn After Reading": After winning multiple Oscars with their grim "No Country for Old Men," Joel and Ethan Coen veer back to comedy as Brad Pitt and Frances McDormand, playing health-club workers, try to blackmail a CIA officer (John Malkovich). Also in the cast are "Michael Clayton" co-stars George Clooney and Tilda Swinton.

"Tyler Perry's The Family That Preys": Kathy Bates and Alfre Woodard play friends from different social classes who discover their families are connected by their children's many extramarital affairs. Not in drag as Madea this time, Perry plays one of Woodard's sons in-law.

"Righteous Kill": The old joke "together again for the first time" actually applies to this police drama with Robert DeNiro and Al Pacino as partners. They headlined "The Godfather, Part II," but didn't share any scenes (because their storylines were separated by 40 years) and shared only a pair of brief scenes in 1995's "Heat." So for the first time these giants of their acting generation are genuine co-stars.

"The Women": This remake of George Cukor's 1939 classic has been on and off Hollywood's schedule for nearly 15 years. Meg Ryan, Annette Bening and Eva Mendes take over the Norma Shearer, Rosalind Russell and Joan Crawford roles, with Jada Pinkett Smith, Debra Messing, Bette Midler and many others adding to the demographic mix. Written and directed by "Murphy Brown" creator Diane English. Yes, Candice Bergen's in it, too.

Movies out Sept. 19

"Ghost Town": After dying for a few moments on the operating table, a surly dentist (Ricky Gervais, from the British version of "The Office") discovers he can see dead people. A ghostly Greg Kinnear convinces Gervais to break up his widow's (Tea Leoni's) engagement to studly Billy Campbell. Didn't think we'd see another "spirited" romantic comedy so soon after "Over Her Dead Body." Didn't think anyone would want to.

"Igor": Dr. Frankenstein's lab assistant steps from behind those lightning-bolt machines and into the spotlight in this computer-animated comedy starring John Cusack's voice.

"Lakeview Terrace": Kerry Washington and Patrick Wilson move into their dream home, but their new neighbor is a little creepy.

Queen Latifah, Samuel L. Jackson star in soon-to-be released movie

He's a cop who never goes off duty, and he's played by Samuel L. Jackson. OK, that's scary. Directed, but not written by, Neil LaBute ("In the Company of Men").

"My Best Friend's Girl": Kate Hudson, Dane Cook and Jason Biggs star in an R-rated romantic comedy that better not be as generic as its title.

Movies out Sept. 26

"Eagle Eye": After excelling in one Hitchcock riff, "Disturbia," Shia LaBeouf gets terrorized again as a young man coerced into a terrorist plot by an unseen villain who has taken over every aspect of his life. Michelle Monaghan is his equally unwilling partner. Directed by D.J. Caruso, also responsible for "Disturbia."

"The Lucky Ones": Three soldiers (Michael Pena, Rachel McAdams and Tim Robbins) are stateside on leave and agree to carpool to St. Louis. The phrase "journey of discovery" will work its way into many summations of this plot, no doubt.

"Miracle at St. Anna": Here's the reason Spike Lee picked a fight with Clint Eastwood earlier this year. Lee directed this World War II drama about four African-American soldiers trapped behind enemy lines in a village in Tuscany.

Movies out Oct. 3

"Appaloosa": Maybe the Westerns of the last few years, including "3:10 to Yuma" and "Seraphim Falls," haven't set the box office ablaze, but they've been corking yarns. This looks like it will join the list. Viggo Mortensen and Ed Harris play lawmen who ride into Appaloosa, N.M., to clean up the town, only to find themselves in a romantic triangle with Renée Zellweger.

"Beverly Hills Chihuahua": Throwing the words "Beverly Hills" into a title for comic effect – how 1980s can you get? A theme song by Kenny Loggins, perhaps? When the Beverly Hills Chihuahua of the title (voiced by Drew Barrymore) gets lost in Mexico, a scrappy Chihuahua voiced by George Lopez comes to her rescue.

Movies out Oct. 10

"Body of Lies": Russell Crowe and Leonardo DiCaprio star in this post-9/11 spy thriller from Ridley Scott. The director's name guarantees intensity, so maybe audiences won't shun this as they have most movies about America's war on terror.

"The Express": Autumn usually brings at least one inspirational, true-life sports story. This one tells about Ernie Davis, the first African-American to win the Heisman Trophy. Rob Brown ("Finding Forrester") plays Davis.

Movies out Oct. 17

"Max Payne": A movie based on a videogame that's not directed by Uwe Bol? Maybe it won't. Mark Wahlberg plays the hard-boiled cop, which is a marginal indication of quality.

"Morning Light": Documentary about a trans-Pacific sailboat race. The title refers to the boat followed by the film crew.

"The Secret Life of Bees": One of the fall's big literary adaptations and Oscar hopefuls. You can tell by the cast, which features one recent Oscar nominee, Queen Latifah, and one recent Oscar winner, Jennifer Hudson, along with Dakota Fanning, often confused for Oscar nominee Abigail Breslin.

"Sex Drive": Eighteen-year-old Josh Zuckerman goes on a cross-country trip hoping to lose his virginity when he rendezvous with a girl he met online. Director Sean Anders is either going after Judd Apatow's raunchy but sweet vibe, or he's banking on nostalgia for "Porky's."

"W.": With this scabrous, possibly comic, biography of George W. Bush (Josh Brolin) arriving just before the presidential election, director Oliver Stone is back to being a bad-boy, controversial filmmaker after his reverential "World Trade Center."

Movies out Oct. 24

"Crossing Over": Delayed from a summer release, perhaps to give it more Oscar credential, this drama gives Los Angeles immigrants the "Crash" treatment. Its stars include Harrison Ford, Sean Penn, Ashley Judd and Ray Liotta.

"High School Musical 3: Senior Year": Two ratings megahits for the Disney Channel have earned Zac Efron, Vanessa Hudgens, Ashley Tisdale and that kid with the hair the right to have their last hurrah on the big screen.

"Saw V": They're up to five already? Time flies, along with the bloody limbs.

Movies out Oct. 31

"Changeling": The title sounds like a Halloween horror picture, but this is a drama directed by Clint Eastwood and starring Angelina Jolie as a 1920s mother looking for her missing son.

"The Haunting of Molly Hartley": Now this is a Halloween horror picture. A high school senior approaches her 18th birthday, when her soul has been promised to Satan. Starring no one you've ever heard of.

"Zack and Miri Make a Porno": Kevin Smith's best film remains "Chasing Amy," and this sounds like the closest thing since. He has a great pair of stars with Seth Rogen and Elizabeth Banks in the title roles.

Movies out Nov. 7

"Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa": When I saw the trailer for this computer-animated sequel a few months ago, the two boys in front of me said, "Daddy, we want to see that!" Their father reminded them, "But you didn't like the first movie." The boys thought it over for a moment and said, "Oh yeah." At least the penguins will be back.

"Role Models": In this comedy, Paul Rudd and Seann William Scott play energy-drink salesmen who face jail time and instead choose community service work with troubled youths. On the plus side, Rudd usually is funny. On the minus side, Scott usually isn't.

Movies out Nov. 14

"Quantum of Solace": After his electrifying revival of the James Bond series in "Casino Royale," Daniel Craig returns in the series' first direct sequel, picking up only hours after "Royale" ended. If you're wondering why "Quantum of Solace," it's one of the few remaining Ian Fleming titles. The producers' other options were "Risico," "The Property of a Lady" and "007 in New York." I'd have gone with "Property of a Lady" myself, even if it was alluded to in "Octopussy."

"Soul Men": The late Bernie Mac stars with Samuel L. Jackson as 1960s R&B singers who reunite after their former lead singer (John Legend) dies.

Movies out Nov. 21

"Bolt": Bolt isn't really a super-powered dog, but he plays one on TV. Problem is, Bolt (voiced by John Travolta) doesn't know that. So he goes off to find his missing o[wner] (Miley Cyrus) thinking he can fly and super strength and all that. Disney's no[t] Pixar computer-animated films don't att[ract] much acclaim, but the trailer for this on[e] a hoot and the movie will be released in[to] same bravura 3-D process that made "M[onsters] the Robinsons" cool.

"The Soloist": Jamie Foxx plays a Julli[ard] trained musician who suffers from schi[zo]phrenia and winds up homeless and pla[ying] his violin on street corners in L.A. Let's go through the check list. A tale of huma[n] adversity based on a true story? Yes. Sta[r]ring an Oscar winner? Yes. Written by a Oscar nominee? Yes, "Erin Brockovich" Susannah Grant. Directed by the guy wh[o] should have been nominated for last yea[r] "Atonement" but wasn't? That would be Wright, yes. If Oscar season hasn't start[ed] yet, it has now.

"Twilight": After "Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince" gave up this opening day, this teenage vampire romance was quick to grab it. Because "Twilight" is based on the first in the series of Stephe[nie] Meyers' best-selling young adult novels, movie producers already were framing [it] the next "Potter"-sized smash. It should well, but it won't appeal to nearly as wi[de] an audience.

Movies out Nov. 26

"Australia": Take three names that scr[eam] "Australia" to the movie world – N[icole] Kidman, Hugh Jackman and director Luhrmann ("Moulin Rouge") – and, re[ally] what else could you call this movie? Air[ed] at a historical epic, co-writer Luhrmann the story in Northern Australia in the cc[ntext] down to World War II.

"Four Christmases": The season's se[cond] dysfunctional family Christmas movie, one a comedy starring Reese Withers[poon] and Vince Vaughn as a young married [cou]ple trying to put in "quality" time with t[heir] two pairs of divorced parents.

"The Road": Last year's Oscar went [to a] movie based on a Cormac McCarthy n[ovel] so maybe "The Road," based on a 2006 Carthy book, will be in the running year. Much of the postapocalyptic story filmed in my hometown of Erie, Pa., sc[ared] not sure whether to feel proud or insu[lted] Viggo Mortensen and Charlize Theron s[tar]

Blackthorn Grille: An Irish pub with international flair

By LESLIE GLAZIER-WERNER

Blackthorn Grille

10 West Grand Avenue
Lake Villa, IL
(847) 356-4400
www.blackthorngrille.com

Hours: Monday-Thursday, 11 a.m. -1 a.m.; Friday, 11 a.m.-2 a.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m.-2 a.m.; Sunday, 8 a.m.-midnight.
Reservations: Recommended.
Entrée Prices: Dinner, $10.95 - $23.95.
Alcohol: Full-service bar.
Smoking: Non-smoking.
Credit Cards: MasterCard, Visa, American Express, Discover.
Other: Live entertainment, ample parking, carry out, children's menu.

This Irish pub isn't content to just celebrate the Emerald Isle. Blackthorn Grille is a gourmet globetrotter, with an exceptional wine and drink menu, and an eclectic mix of entertainment.

Co-owner Fred Nielson said business has been booming since the restaurant opened three months ago. Fred, a developer, said he's owned the restaurant property for 10 years, which he formerly leased to Prime Time Saloon & Eatery. Fred and his partners, John Haley and Rob Hardman, have totally remodeled the building, transforming it into a welcoming bit of Ireland.

The Blackthorn Grille is decorated with a whimsical mural of the Irish countryside, and a magical path of shamrocks, which rambles through the restaurant. Warm wood details, stained glass lighting, and Irish sayings etched in glass invite you to relax and unwind.

The full bar offers an extensive selection of fine wines, beers, and mixed drinks.

There are 22 televisions scattered throughout the restaurant for sports fans. And, with a seating capacity of 200, the Blackthorn Grille can easily accommodate large parties.

Executive Chef, Marc Vitello, has created a gourmet menu with an international flair. Dinner selections range from a traditional shepherd's pie to "Clare Island Tournedos of Salmon": two peppered salmon filets—one seared with a brandy glaze, the other with Pinot Noir cream sauce.

Whether lunch or dinner, Blackthorn Grille is sure to satisfy with a choice of beef, ribs, chops, seafood, chicken, pasta, soups, salads, sandwiches, burgers, pizza—even stir fry. The restaurant has also added breakfast on the weekends. Breakfast selections include omelets, pancakes, and French toast. Fred added that pizza delivery was going to be offered in 2 weeks, as well.

The pub offers live entertainment almost every night of the week, including Irish music on Thursdays. Weekends feature a variety of live acts, from bands playing classic rock to dueling pianos.

"We welcome everyone from the area to come see what we have to offer," Nielsen said. "We are a 'Cheers' type of bar where people are friends and come to meet each other...and then there's the excellent food and entertainment."

Tips for Throwing a Restaurant Party

(MS) — Nearly everyone enjoys a good party. But few love cleaning up once the party's over. This is one reason party hosts often choose restaurants as their party locales. The chance to leave the cleaning to someone else proves too enticing. But before throwing your next get-together at a nearby restaurant, consider the following tips:

• Do your homework: Narrow down your list of potential locations and spend a day going to them and discussing party parameters with the restaurant managers. Such parameters include cost, possibility of renting a private room (or the entire restaurant, depending on party size), flexibility of menu (can items not on the menu be ordered in advance?), and arranging the date of the party. After these things have been discussed with each restaurant's manager, you can make your decision. (Note: If you're having trouble finding a restaurant or getting recommendations from friends, consult a guidebook such as Zagat's.)

• Get things in writing: Ask the restaurant manager to put your eventual agreement in writing. Nothing can ruin a party like squabbling over the bill at the end of the night. With spelled-out contract, you're sure to avoid any financial surprises.

• Send invitations: Invitations are necessary for a number of reasons. First of all, before making an agreement with the restaurant manager you'll need to know a head count for guests. The number can be a ballpark figure, but invitations with an RSVP date will make calculating that estimate all the easier. Another reason for invitations is they'll help you establish a budget. For example, if 20 people will be attending but you'd planned on 40, you might be able to afford a fancier restaurant. However, if all 40 invitees plan to attend, you'll need to consider that when shopping for a restaurant.

• Consider the staff: Many restaurants include gratuity in the bill for larger parties. However, restaurant staff typically work very hard when handling a larger group. Feel free to add more to the gratuity for exceptional service.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

This is to inform you that there is a possibility you may be contacted by someone trying to scam you. The scammers use ploys such as offering to pay you a "processing fee" for depositing checks and sending a percentage back to them. These checks are FAKE and YOU will be held liable for repaying the funds to the bank.

Typically the scammers will contact you via email or via a phone relay system for the hearing impaired so you don't know where they are calling from or what they sound like.

Recently arrests were made in the Netherlands, Nigeria & Canada with fake checks worth more than $2.1 billion dollars. The average victim of this scam loses $3000 to $4000.

Please Be Cautious.

Northern Air Systems sets service standard

By LESLIE GLAZIER-WERNER

If your heating and cooling system needs service or replacement, you can expect superior service and complete satisfaction when you call Northern Air Systems. "I'll do whatever it takes to make the customer happy," said owner Wayne Wodach. "Customer service and quality is everything."

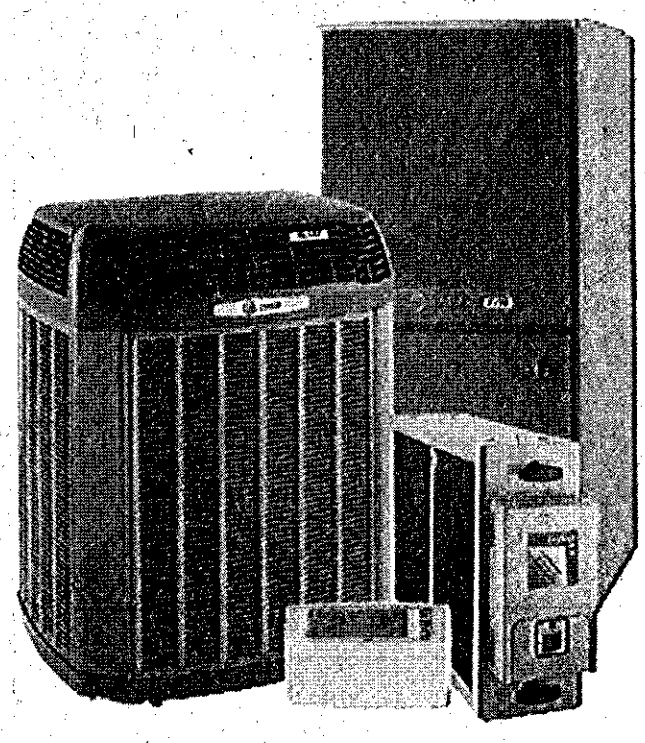

After 4 years of trade school in sheet metal work and 19 years working for other companies, Wayne said he felt he could provide better service by going out on his own.

He said he started Northern Air Systems in 1984 wanting, "to be small and just go out and do a good job." However, business has been booming ever since, thanks to the company's versatility and quality workmanship. Wayne said he now has 14 highly trained and certified servicemen and sheet metal workers with a wide variety of residential and commercial work experience.

In addition to servicing and installing furnaces, air conditioning systems, thermostats, and humidifiers, Wayne said they do boilers, radiant heating, and zone systems. He added that they have done the HVAC (heating, ventilation, and air conditioning) work for projects large and small, such as animal hospitals, the airport, a shopping center, an 110,000 sq. ft. company addition, and large homes.

Northern Air Systems carries brand name products known for their quality and dependability, like Trane furnaces and air conditioners, and Honeywell thermostats and humidifiers. Wayne noted that "we go to school all year round" training to use these products.

"If you like my price, you'll love my work," Wodach said regarding his reasonable prices. Northern Air Systems also offers financing by American General and Trane. "I never sacrifice quality and workmanship to save money," Wayne added. So it's no surprise that 90% of the company's work comes from customer referrals. With a solid reputation for superior service, including 24-hour emergency service, Northern Air Systems is the best choice for your heating and cooling needs.

Play matchmaker with your HVAC system

(NAPSA)-According to the Environmental Protection Agency's ENERGY STAR(r) program, in the United States, approximately 6.6 tons of greenhouse gases are emitted per person every year. The energy we use in our homes often comes from burning fossil fuels at power plants, which contributes to smog, acid rain and global warming. So the less energy we use in our homes, the less air pollution we generate.

The experts at Coleman Heating & Air Conditioning from Johnson Controls suggest a number of quick and easy ways homeowners can conserve energy, including:

- Installing a programmable thermostat
- Sealing heating and cooling ducts
- Buying energy-efficient appliances
- Changing the air filters in your HVAC system.

The government is also concerned about protecting the environment. The Department of Energy recently issued a mandate that requires all new, central air conditioners to have a seasonal energy efficiency ratio (SEER) of at least 13. SEER is similar to miles per gallon in cars; the higher the SEER, the more efficient your air- conditioning system.

An important aspect for homeowners to be aware of is that much of the improved efficiency associated with 13 SEER units is the result of an increase in the surface of the coil found in a system's outdoor unit, which is used to transport refrigerant. As a result, these outdoor units can be 50 to 90 percent larger than 10 SEER units and require as much as 40 percent more refrigerant than many indoor coils are capable of holding.

It becomes very important, then, for homeowners to select an HVAC contractor to play matchmaker with their HVAC system to correctly match the size of the indoor coil with the new, larger outdoor unit. A mismatched system can lead to lower comfort levels, a higher utility bill, increased stress on the system and higher repair costs.

A qualified, licensed and insured HVAC dealer can make sure your system is matched and installed correctly and is efficient and economical to operate. For more information, visit www.cole manac.com or call (877) 874-7378.
